

Barbara Marshall: I have now lived in London for nearly 40 years. I remember Liz well and appreciate your conveying the details of her memorial service. It is always sad to learn of the passings of so many old friends but thanks at least for being a messenger. Jeff was a good friend, too. So sad.... My life is going well although I am still recovering from a big stroke I had in 2011. Hopefully by the next class reunion, I will be in good shape!
